Profile

Alex is a highly experienced case manager who strives to provide a proactive, effective, and professional approach for clients and their families.

Alex has been working as a case manager since 2016 across both the children's and adult sectors, managing complex neurological and behavioural conditions, birth injuries, acquired brain injuries and trauma-based injuries. As a specialist case manager Alex has developed a sound understanding of the needs of clients with highly complex conditions and is skilled in the collaboration and oversight of interdisciplinary teams to ensure any care, therapeutic, and medical interventions are properly meeting the client's needs. He is a strong advocate for collaboration, working in partnership with all involved to realise positive client outcomes.

Alex is knowledgeable, caring, and diligent, an insightful practitioner who is consistently able to develop trusting relationships with clients and their families. Alex has a solid operational and leadership background with over 15 years of clinical and managerial experience, working across health and social care, the private sector, the educational sector, equipment provision, and rehabilitation settings. He understands the litigation process and the importance of detailed reporting with robust evidence based recommendations.

Testimonial

"Alex is a huge asset to our team, relating like no other to some of those who are harder to reach. His gentle personality allows even the most withdrawn clients to share their worries, and he demonstrates consistent professionalism and knowledge with all of his case management caseload." – Physiotherapist
