Profile

Ranjith is a skilled case manager with over 15 years of experience as a physiotherapist. His first-hand knowledge and training encompasses young adults and older adults with a range of neurological, spinal cord injuries and other health issues, including many with significant additional medical and mental health complexities. Ranjith has specialised in working with clients who have complex health needs in the community as well as in hospital settings across his career.

Ranjith has worked as a specialist Brain and Spinal Cord injury case manager and was part of a dedicated spinal cord injury case management service (SIA Case Management). He gained further valuable clinical experience and training while within an in-patient neurological rehabilitation centre.

Ranjith has a sound understanding of complex orthopaedic care and rehabilitation. He has worked across the NHS within orthopaedics, accident and emergency and community specialist services including Rapid Response. Ranjith is also an experienced NHS First Contact Practitioner and Supervisor.

Ranjith has comprehensive knowledge of the physical and psychological conditions caused by a catastrophic injury. He is passionate about re-integrating people into the community, helping them identify their holistic needs and supporting them in achieving their rehabilitation goals.

Ranjith is aware of and continuously works towards updating himself on current local and national policies including National Service Framework and National Institute for Health and Care Excellence (NICE) guidelines. Ranjith conducted an experimental study, during his Masters degree, on the validity and reliability of Load Cell Based Force Plate system in measuring postural sway, for which he was awarded the Verna Wright prize from the Society of Research and Rehabilitation in 2013. Ranjith speaks English, Hindi, Malayalam, Tamil and Kannada.
