Profile

Lindsey is a highly skilled case manager with extensive experience in assessing and treating adults and children with complex orthopaedic/polytrauma and neurological conditions, such as acquired brain injury and cerebral palsy.

She has an impressive clinical knowledge base and skills from working as a physiotherapist alongside renowned healthcare professionals over a 15-year period, at some of the most prestigious hospitals in London.

Lindsey's physiotherapy background is with children who have cerebral palsy, and she has also extensive experience of working with young adults who have experienced a brain injury.

She graduated as a physiotherapist in 2001 and began specialising as a paediatric physiotherapist in 2005. Her area of clinical expertise within her physiotherapy role is predominantly within paediatric neuroscience. With over 20 years' clinical and managerial experience, she brings significant expertise to ensure clients achieve the best possible outcomes. Lindsey is a committed advocate for her clients' needs and excels at engaging stakeholders effectively to optimise care and rehabilitation pathways for clients. Her priority is to provide robust advocacy, clinical coordination, measurable outcomes for her clients and their families. She is skilled in understanding her client's goals and aspirations to ensure they and their family can work towards the best outcome.

Lindsey has experience as an expert witness alongside her clinical role as a case manager giving her a deep understanding of the legal processes both pre and post settlement.

Testimonial

"Lindsey is caring, passionate and holistic in her approach. She truly cares for the wellbeing of the patients and families she sees, promoting independence and engagement within the family unit, community, and wider world." Occupational Therapist

"Lindsey is fantastic case manager. She has been able to take on complex cases and pragmatically find solutions to ongoing issues. She works very well with an MDT, bringing strong leadership and direction. Clients feel very well supported by her and know that she is working hard for them. I would not hesitate to use her again." Personal Injury Solicitor
